

Velasco Monés G., Padullés Cubino J. & Lososová Z. (2025) Disentangling the effects of traits and environmental factors on species' successional optima: a study from central Europe. – Preslia 97: 241–260.

Supplementary Fig. S4. Comparison of effect sizes and confidence intervals of the three types of inference methodologies.

Supplementary Fig. S4. Comparison of effect sizes and confidence intervals of the three types of inference methodologies: standard, phylogenetically-corrected and selective. Height is not statistically significant under selective inference and bud bank size is only significant under standard inference.